18.12.2018

Dear Parents and Timpany family,

I write with gratitude for the cooperation we have received from you in making 2018 a successful year. I am sure the coming year will be even more fulfilling for the cause of educating the whole child.

We have tried our best to raise the quality of education and have engaged experts from various fields to interact with students and teachers. With the rapidly changing emphases in education, it becomes necessary for us to continue such efforts.

One of the skills that I personally have been trying to impart to the teachers is what is popularly known as Integrated Learning. We are happy to let you know that some major publishers are now working with us in introducing this system into their text books. Even our school boards are moving towards this direction. We know that this is going to add value to the education we are imparting to our children. I look forward to your continuing cooperation and want your assistance in every step we take in this process.

I pray that the Christmas season will really bring you love, joy and peace and that 2019 would be a blessed year for you.
